Mr. Handyman employee gives volunteer time to fix up Safe House of Seminole

MR. HANDYMAN GIVES BACK TO SEMINOLE COUNTY

SEMINOLE COUNTY - In an effort to give back to the community, Mr. Handyman of Lake Mary performed repair and maintenance jobs for the Safehouse of Seminole on Friday-- all without collecting a single penny in labor costs.

As part of President Obama's request to renew America through volunteerism, Mr. Handyman, a full-service home repair and maintenance franchise and the No. 1 employer of handymen nationwide painted walls, built bunk beds and did everything in between during their National Day of Service on Sept. 10.

Locally, Mr. Handyman of Lake Mary donated two Mr. Handyman technicians to install a small deck, secure a swing set, assemble bunk beds and paint the Safehouse of Seminole.

"We are thrilled to have worked with the Safehouse of Seminole this year as part of Mr. Handyman's National Day of Service campaign," said Chad Olson, owner of the Mr. Handyman of Lake Mary. "We are always looking for ways to give back to our community and we are excited to be a part of a national operation to help organizations in need."

More than 300 U.S. and Canadian locations rallied around the cause and donated their skilled technicians' time to a local charity of choice. Nationwide Mr. Handyman franchises donated more than 300 hours of work to homeless shelters, hospitals, senior care centers, schools and churches, as well as non-profits and other community service organizations.

"Mr. Handyman is an international brand, made up of entrepreneurs who live and work in local communities," said Todd Recknagel, president and chief executive officer of Mr. Handyman, International. "We made a point to come together as a group and make a large-scale impact on a single day."
